

International Retailing

- Definition :
- International retailing refers to the process of selling goods and services across national borders to meet the needs and preferences of customers in foreign markets.
- It involves the strategic planning, adaptation, and execution of retail operations in diverse cultural, economic, and regulatory environments.