

Service Marketing Triangle

- The service marketing triangle is a framework that shows the relationship between a company, its employees, and its customers. It's a model that helps ensure that these three components work together to deliver good service and satisfy customers.

